Alexandria Gazette AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER. For the Country.

A STORY ABOUT FALSE HAIR.-The London Daily News says: On Saturday a man was committed for trial by Mr. Partridge for board the steamer Dolphin. It appears that this precious cargo had been shipped from Germany, and was of peculiar softness. One of the cases had been opened, and such was the stealing a large quantity of human hair from on value of the freight that the quantity abstracted was worth more than a hundred pounds, according to the market price of the commodity. The merchant who dealt in the ware stated that he could easily distinguish it from the English, French or Dutch article, and that its color alone would testify to its German origin. From this we may assume that the fashion of blonde tresses still continues among us; and, indeed, we have ocular demonstration of the fact in every promenade and place of public resort. For a time the yellow locks were only worn by a class, but now the mode has been adopted in circles of the best repute, and the coiffures blondes are universally adopted by ladies who are not content with what Nature has done for the outside of their heads. Mr. Hovenden, the gentleman from whom the raw article was stolen to which we have above referred, mentioned that he traveled abroad himself in order to collect the stuff in which he dealt. We may conjecture that he has also his agents in other parts of the world. It is, to say the least of it, an odd traffic. We can imagine a peddler in this line of business delighted at arriving at a remote, unfrequented parish, and sharpening his seissors with a keen pleasure when he is informed that he has been first in the field. The chignon season sets in. we should surmise, most furiously in May. It is brisk enough in March; but the fine weather and the opportunities of exhibition at flower Shows, Garden Parties, and Kettledrums, must enhance the demands for a "Caprice" or a "Marchioness." Thus the reaper of golden hair must exert himself industriously on the approach of summer. For the lower orders of people, we remember to have heard that hair of a coarser fibre is gathered. It was hinted, even, that Caffraria was a source of supply for the ingredients of what might be termed the chignon Soubrette; for the ladies are not permitted so monopolize the charming practice. from the country. The waiting maid has her supplementary wig attached to her poll, and the cook, when enlarged from her kitchen, walks abroad in all her dignity that may be conferred by the adhesion to her sonce of a hirsute glubular cushion.

THE FRENCH INSURRECTION .-- If the French had fought the Germans as well as they are tighting each other, they would feel better over their misfortunes. Most of the elan and the strategic talent which they should have exhibited against the men in helmets, they seem to have reserved for mutual slaughter. Both the have reserved for mutual slaughter. Both the Assemblists and the Nationals are displaying some military skill and a good deal of bravery. The former are in the position of the Prussians but have the additional advantage of holding some of the forts, and their attack on the Parisinsurgents is quite in the Prussian style. The have evidently taken lessons from their masters. It is like going through the history of the late siege again to read of the Assemblists making brave assaults, or adroit feints, and serving their artillery with great skill and deadly effect. The discipline of the Versailles army is apparently good, though it must still be far inferior to that of the German host who once occupied the same ground. The parallel so remarkable PLANING MILLS SASH, DOOR & BLIND throughout is almost completed by the anxiety FACTORY. of the Assemblists not to hurt Paris too much. and their disposition to trust to starvation and dissension inside the walls to gain the victory. Both of those agencies are now operating to hasten a surrender of the city, and that termination of a strangely mingled tragedy and farce is probably not far distant.

BILLINGS' ADVICE TO JOE .- By awl means Joe get married, if you have got a fair show. Don't stand shivering on the bank, but pitch in and stick yure hed under and the shiver is over. There ain't enny more trick in getting married after you're redy, than there is in cating peanuts. Menny a man has stood shivering on the shore till the river awl run out. Don't expect to marry an angle, them hev awl been picked up long ago. Remember, Joe. you ain t a saint yourself. Do not marry for buty excloosively; buty is like ice, awful slipperly, and thaws dredful easy. Don't marry for hiv neither; luv is like a cooking stove, good for nothing when the fuel gives out. But marry a mixture. And let the mixture be some buty becomingly dressed, with about $250 in her pocket, a good speller, handy and neat in the house, plenty of good sense, a tuff constitution and by laws, small feet, a light stepper; add to this sound teeth and a warm heart. This mixture will keep in enuy climate, and not evaporate. If the cork happens to be left off for two or three minutes the strength ain't all gone. Joe. For heaven's sake don't marry for pedigree. That ain't much in pedigree unless it is backed by bank tooks. A family with nothing but pedigree generally lack sence.

Spurious Quinine.—The latest fraud is that of spurious quinine, which has been going the rounds for two days. A party offered an outside buyer, who sometimes speculates in drugs, three or four hundred ounces of what purported to be "Pelletier's quinine, neatly put up, labeled and sealed so as to defy detection, stating that it had been taken for debt and the holder wanted cash; was willing to sacrifice the lot at fifty to seventy-five cents be-

DR. JOHNSTON

Member of the Royal College of Surgery of London, Graduate of one of the most eminent Col-leges in the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spent in the hospitalso; London, Paris, Philadelphia and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known; many troubled with ringing in the head and ears whomasleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, bashfulness, with frequent blushing, attended sometimes with derangement of mind, were cured immediately TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE. Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured themselves by improper indulgence and solitary habits, which ruin both body and mind, unfitting them for either business, study, society or mar-

These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by the early habits of youth, viz: Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimnessof Sight, Lossof Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsis, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestive Functions, General Dobility, Symptoms of Consumption, Sc. tion, &c.

MENTALLY.—The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded. Loss of Memory, Confusion of Ideas, Depression of Spirits, Evil Forebodings, Aversion to Society, Self Distrust, Love of Solitude, Timidity, &c., are some of the evil.

Thousands of persons of all agescan now judge what is the cause of their declining health, losing their vigor, becoming weak, pale, nervous and emaciated, having a singular appearance about the eyes, cough and symptoms of Consumption.

Who have injured themselves by a certain practice, already described, a habit frequently learned from evil companions or at school, the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and if not cured, renders marriage impossible, and destroys both mind and body, should apply immediately.

What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country, the pride of his parents, should be snatched from all prospects and enjoyment of life by the consequence of deviating from the path of nature, and indulging in pernicious habits. Such persons must, before contemplating MARRIAGE. Reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial bappiness. Indeed, without these the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage, the prospect hourly darkens to the view, the mind becomes shadowed with despair, and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another is blighted with our own.
